

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

Systems and methods are disclosed for creating smooth surfaces for layers that are employed in memory cells and have previously been subject to a CMP process. The present invention employs various cycles of exposing the post CMP surface to inorganic and organic acids, as well as growing passive layers. The 5 systems and methods may comprise an electroless feature for forming the passive layers.